

To Whom it May Concern,

I can't come up with words to express the special feeling I have for Kimberly.

When she spoke to the students at Herbert High, we witnessed a group of rowdy teenagers become an attentive audience. Halfway through her talk, through misty eyes, I noticed that even the boys had tears running down their cheeks.

1. Kimberly is truly an inspirational speaker.
2. She is able to describe her own childhood in such a way that her audience has a real picture of the lives of underprivileged children.
3. She stresses the value of all age groups.
4. She believes that everyone is important, and it is vital to listen to each person's point of view.
5. By her work with youth camps she encourages tolerance, understanding other nationalities, faith and hope in the future.

Thank you Kim, for being the bright smiling person you are. Each time we hear you speak you lift our spirits. You are indeed a bright star.
